In this issue of From the Stacks, we're highlighting a few new standout titles from this beloved genre, along with other exciting collection features to keep you happily reading!

ADULTS

Historical fiction is a genre that transports readers to the past, blending real historical settings with engaging storytelling. Many people have a fascination with a particular era or people and enjoy exploring their interests through historical fiction. It is also a way to discover lesser-known historical events.

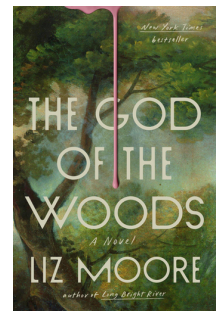

Here are a few new and popular historical titles to check out!

One Good Thing by Georgia Hunter

James by Percival Everett

The God of the Woods by Liz Moore

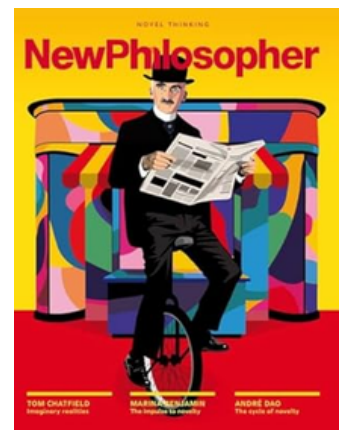

The Covenant of Water by A. Verghese

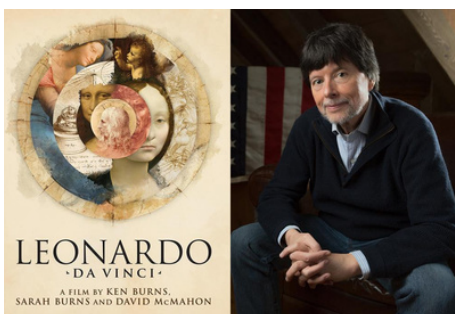

NEW MAGAZINES!

Explore the newest magazines now available for checkout at the library! Hobby Farms is a magazine for people who enjoy farming, homesteading, and rural living. It's published bimonthly and is known for its photography and design.

New Philosopher is a magazine that explores philosophical ideas and how to live a more fulfilling life. It features essays, interviews, and artwork. The magazine is intended for people who are curious about ethics, culture, society, and the human condition.

DVDS

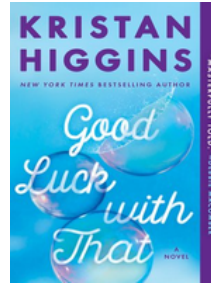

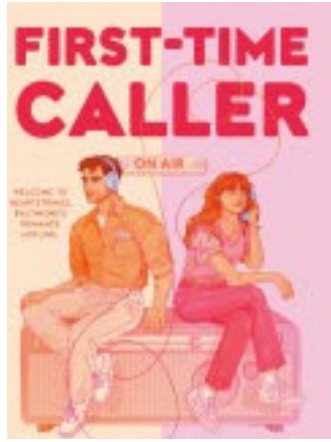

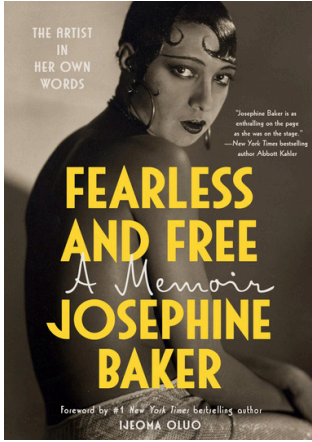

LEONARDO da VINCI looks at how the artist influenced and inspired future generations, and it finds in his soaring imagination and profound intellect the foundation for a conversation we are still having today: what is our relationship with nature and what does it mean to be human.

“No single person can speak to our collective effort to understand the world and ourselves,” -Ken Burns.
